Wagner a Living Paradox.
As an artist Wagner had unequalled genius. As a man, though generous, temperate and virtuous to an unusual degree, he also had extraordinary faults. He was egotistical and proud, prone to fierce enmities; he went to extremes in everything. A living paradox; impatient, irritable and nervous; noble and petty; never made a man more friends and more enemies. He was worshiped and hated. Taken all in all, musically he stands as the most notable figure of this age. —Dole's Famous Composers.

Death Calls J. W. Lewis

After Long and Useful Life, 34 Years in the Methodist Ministry, Aged Man Goes to Rest

The entire community was saddened, though not surprised, when informed that one of our most loved and respected citizens, John Wesley Lewis, passed away at his home on N. First street at 5:30 o'clock Friday evening, March 31.

The funeral services were held at the Methodist Episcopal church at Campbell Sunday morning at 11:30 o'clock, with the Rev. John F. Wilson, pastor, officiating. Mr. Wilson was assisted by several other clergymen. The Rev. H. C. Langley read the scripture lesson and the Rev. Geo. E. Atkinson, pastor of the Congregational church, offered prayer. A quartet from the choir, Mrs. J. F. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Palmer and Mr. J. C. Gordon, sang "There Is a Land that Is Fairer Than Day," and "Jerusalem the Golden."

The pastor read a short account of the life of the deceased. John Wesley Lewis was born at Petersburg, New York, October 2, 1831, and died at Campbell, Cal., March 31, 1911. He was converted at 19 years of age. He was a Chaplain in 125th Ohio Volunteers, and also the 45th Ohio; he was mustered out June 12th, 1865. Mr. Lewis was a member of the Minnesota Conference and had spent 34 years in the ministry. He came to Campbell with his family 15 years ago.

The Rev. S. G. Gale, D. D., of the Willows, spoke tenderly of Brother Lewis and his relations with him as a soldier and a fellow minister. Mr. Gale was Mr. Lewis' presiding elder when the latter came to California.

The principal address was made by the Rev. S. D. Hutsiniller, D. D., Superintendent of the Oakland District. In opening Dr. Hutsiniller said, "No one has a more sacred right to speak at this hour or pay tribute than myself. When a lad the strong, gentle hand of this man was placed on my brow in holy baptism. He with my parents led me to Jesus Christ." Mr. Hutsiniller spoke of the very intimate friendship between his parents and Mr. Lewis as their pastor. This acquaintance extending over so many years enabled the speaker to pay a most beautiful tribute to the life and Christian character of our departed friend. At the close of the address the choir sang "O For a Faith That Will Not Shrink!"

Mr. Lewis was a member of O. E. Ord Post G. A. R. A large number of the comrades attended in a body. The pallbearers were old soldiers: Rev. E. A. Winning, Rev. H. C. Langley, Mr. Mallory, I. Preston, John Preston and J. M. Butts. Interment at Los Gatos cemetery. The Grand Army ritual service was used at the grave.

Mr. Lewis was married to Nancy A. Granger, who died in the year 1905. Nine children were born to them, all of whom except Edward S., who died at 16 years of age, are now living: Herbert W. of Los Angeles, Rev. Charles D. of Grangeville, Mrs. M. L. Waite and Miss Mary Lewis of Campbell, all of whom were at the funeral; two daughters, Mrs. Taylor of Fargo, N. D., and Mrs. McLean of Fergus, Minn. Last fall Mr. Lewis was married to Mrs. Jennie Parker, who survives him.

Cooper Contest Settled

The two suits brought by George Cooper, claiming the estate of Samuel F. Cooper as his own, have both been withdrawn. The only basis for the above claims was in the statements of two parties, the one the father of George Cooper, and the other the woman who falsely claimed to be his mother. The proof produced by the heirs of Col. Cooper were so conclusive as to make it useless to continue these suits.

George Cooper presented another claim, which was a written promise from Col. Cooper to pay him a certain amount annually during his life time.

There was a semblance of legal right in this claim and the residuary heirs compromised with George Cooper, and so made it possible for the executors to proceed with the settlement of the estate.

Rev. and Mrs. C. E. Irons of San Francisco, formerly of Los Gatos, were in Campbell Tuesday and Wednesday of this week, as guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Lloyd. Mr. Irons is just recovering from a very painful and severe illness of a peculiar nature. It began with neuralgia in the left side of the face and developed in an abscess in the head which finally broke and discharged thru the left ear. He was disabled for five weeks and suffered intense pain.

The Improvement Club met at the call of the President last Monday evening, at 8 o'clock.

The secretary, besides reading the minutes of the previous meeting, read a report from the secretary of the Old Settlers' Day committee meeting held February 25th; which report showed that the finance committee had received $66.60 and had allowed bills to the amount of $65.95. R. K. Thomas had been appointed chairman of the committee for next year; and Messrs. J. F. Smith, J. E. Palmer and Geo. E. Atkinson were selected as a committee to arrange for the speaker of the day for the 1912 celebration. These appointments at this time will insure an early preparation for next year.

The Campbell Avenue extension committee reported that the various property holders had been interviewed and some were found to be unwilling to grant their land for right-of-way, while others would do so. Committee was granted further time.

Two members of the Club were appointed to work in harmony with two members which the Political Equality Club might appoint for the purpose of preparing and placing receptacles on the streets in which to receive waste paper, etc.

President J. F. Wilson and R. K. Thomas were elected to represent the Club at the San Jose Chamber of Commerce banquet at Hotel Vendome April 25th. All others who desire to attend are privileged to do so, and must leave their names with the secretary L. C. Dick, before 10th.

A committee was appointed to confer with the Board of Supervisors regarding repairs on the creek banks and road on Campbell avenue.

No cheating or bargaining will ever get a single thing out of nature's "establishment" at half price. Do we want to be strong? We must work. To be hungry? We must starve. To be happy? We must be kind. To be wise? We must look and think. No changing of place at a hundred miles an hour nor making of stuffs a thousand yards a minute will make us one whit stronger, happier or wiser. There was always more in the world than men could see, walked they ever so slowly; they will see it no better for going fast. And they will at last, and soon, too, find out that their grand inventions for conquering (as they think) space and time do in reality conquer nothing, for space and time are in their own essence unconquerable and, besides, did not want any conquering—they wanted using. A fool always wants to shorten space and time; a wise man wants to lengthen both. A fool wants to kill space and kill time; a wise man, first to gain them, then to animate them.—John Sacramento.—The body of Deidrick W. Eilers, an aged capitalist who disappeared January 28th, has been found in the Sacramento river. It has not been determined whether the aged man was drowned accidentally or met with foul play.

Auburn.—Bloodhounds are scouring the hills of upper Placer county in an effort to pick up the trail of Mike Burke and Mike Larkin, who are believed to have robbed the Southern Pacific depot at Knights Landing recently and a day later to have robbed a store in Rocklin.

San Francisco.—A decision in the matter of a site for the Panama-Pacific Exposition is further deferred by the action of the directors in concluding, after long deliberation to invite the Federal Fine Arts Commission to come to San Francisco and aid in the selection of a site.

Berkeley.—The demonstration train of the department of agriculture at the State University, started from Los Angeles on its second trip this season. A 12-day trip, with stops at all principal farming points on the coast route, will terminate at Watsonville. Horticulture and agricultural lectures will be a feature of the instruction.

Los Angeles.—F. M. Heil of Dallas, Texas, second-class fireman on the torpedo boat destroyer Stewart, was accidentally shot and killed during sub-caliber target practice. Heil stepped in front of a 30-caliber rifle just as the gunner pulled the trigger. The bullet struck him in the forehead. The gunner was sighting on a telescope focused on a target.

Los Angeles.—Wearing a mask to keep from being photographed, Miss Lillian Paxton, who is charged with the forgery of a deed to property valued at over $20,000, again appeared in court and at the request of District Attorney Horton her examination, set for April 7th, was continued until April 10th. Miss Paxton still maintains her silence, saying only that she is innocent.

Portland, Or.—Because the Government could not connect James Whalen, saloon keeper, with disposing of gold bullion once in the mails, the Federal Grand Jury brought in a "not true bill" against the suspect. This action clears away the only Federal case against Whalen in connection with the theft of $84,000 in gold bullion which formed a shipment from Alaska on the steamer Humboldt in September, 1910.

Sacramento.—The Governor commuted the sentence of Peter Maple, serving four years at San Quentin for a robbery of which he was convicted in Humboldt county a year ago. He assured the depositors of the assistance of his department in any effort that may be made to put the bank on its feet. A committee from among the depositors was appointed to examine into the condition of the accounts.

MODOC COUNTY VOLCANO IS SHOWING SIGNS OF LIFE

Flames Reported to Have Been Seen
and Heavy Rumbles Heard.

Sacramento.—Residents of the lava beds region of Modoc county are becoming alarmed at the frequent rumbles that appear to come from the lava beds in Modoc and Siskiyou counties and those who have lived in the section for years and who have made a study of the conditions believe there is a subterranean upheaval going on. The Courtright brothers who have been trapping in the vicinity of the lava beds say what they first supposed to be a fire in the west. They investigated and found the blaze to be a yellow flame which at intervals shot up through the lava formation to a height of 70 feet going far above the pine trees that skirt the edge of the open.

The flames continued to shoot up for a period of 30 minutes and the territory covered by this strange outburst was half a mile long but narrow. Dull detonations like the distant rumbling of thunder occurred during the entire time the flames shot upward. Glass mountain, in the vicinity of the spot where the brothers witnessed this phenomena, is an extinct volcano, and it has been showing signs of activity of late.

Frenchman Out of Harm's Way.

Fresno.—Charles Loper, accused of killing Joe Vernet, a Frenchman, about two years ago, pleaded guilty to the charge before Judge Austin and was sentenced to life imprisonment in Folsom. Loper was convicted about a year ago and sentenced to be hanged, but judgment was reversed by the Supreme Court and a new trial ordered. Loper not only killed Vernet, but cut his body into pieces, tied it up in a gunny sack and buried it in the mountains. He then came to Fresno and attempted to get Vernet's money. The murderer confessed, but the Supreme Court held that the confession had been extorted and denounced the "third degree" methods used.

Thugs in Southern City.

San Diego.—Caught in the act of beating a man named Max Barfuss on the head with a beer bottle and threatening to take his life unless he surrendered his valuables, a youth who gives the name of Robert Ford is in jail here. The alleged crime occurred at midnight and a policeman arrived unexpectedly on the scene, fired two shots at Ford and effected his capture. A man who was with Ford escaped. Ford was identified by Barfuss.

Throop Institute Gets Benefits.

Pasadena.—Donations to the Throop Institute, amounting to $250,000 were announced by President James Scherer. The donations came from secret sources, the sums from the four benefactors being $150,000, one of $50,000 and two of $25,000 each. The two largest gifts come from Pasadena and the two others are from friends outside the city.

Grand Army Reunion at Fresno.

Fresno.—Members of the Grand Army of the Republic, Department of California and Nevada, will gather at Fresno on April 11th and remain in convention until April 15th for the forty-fourth annual encampment, in what promises to be the best attended affair of the kind in the history of the organization.

Safe Crackers Get Small Loot.

Los Angeles.—Burglars blew up the safe in the Moneta postoffice near Los Angeles and got away with between $300 and $400 in cash and several hundred dollars' worth of stamps. They drilled three holes in the safe door and filled them with nitro-glycerine. There is no clew to the robbers.

Bulletins of Health for Schools.

Sacramento.—The State Board of Health and the State Board of Education will co-operate soon in the publishing of a series of bulletins of health subjects for circulation among the schools of the State. The first will deal with the general subject of alcohol and narcotics.

Convicted of Murder.

Spokane.—John McDowell is guilty of murder in the first degree for killing his wife in their lonely cabin near Harrison, Idaho, last November. That was the verdict returned by the jury at Coeur d'Alene. The penalty may be either hanging or life imprisonment.

Trouserloons With Wealth Gone.

San Francisco.—While G. Macari was asleep in his room a sneak thief broke in and carried away the man's trousers which held $700, $200 of which was in coin and the balance in currency and postal orders.

Measure on Which People Vote.

The following constitutional amendments have been adopted by a two-thirds vote of each house of the Legislature. They do not require the signature of the Governor, but, to become effective, must be ratified by a majority of those voting at the election at which they are submitted:

Senate Constitutional Amendment 25, Gates—For the initiative and referendum providing that an act or an amendment to the constitution may be originated upon petition of 8 per cent of the total number of votes cast at the last preceding election for Governor and upon certification of this petition by the Secretary of State shall be submitted to vote at the next general election. A petition bearing signatures of only 5 per cent of the voters of the State is sufficient to cause any measure to be submitted to the Legislature at its next session, and it must there be acted upon without amendment within forty days. The Legislature may propose a substitute measure in which event both measures shall be submitted to the voters for decision. A referendum on any measures, except certain emergency acts passed by the Legislature, may be had upon petition of 5 per cent of the voters of the State.

Senate Constitutional Amendment 23, Gates—For the recall of elective officers. Petitions circulated any time after incumbency of six months, or, in case of legislators, within five days after a session convene, if that time is less than six months, shall bring about an election for the recall of officers against whom they are directed. Such petitions must bear signatures of 12 per cent of the total vote for State officers, or, in case of county and city officials, a maximum of 25 per cent. For State officers elected from a subdivision of the State as are legislators 20 per cent is required. The incumbent is automatically a candidate and a majority of votes cast must specify that he is to be recalled, or he remains in office. He is given space on the ballot to reply to the charge upon which he is to be recalled. The judiciary is included in the measure.

Senate Constitutional Amendment 8, Bell—For equal suffrage for men and women.

Senate Constitutional Amendment 26, Boynton—Providing that in criminal action, cases shall not be reversed upon appeal unless the higher court decides that the errors cited involve a miscarriage of justice.

Senate Constitutional Amendment 17, Curtin—Enlarging the constitutional definition of eminent domain so that logging railroads are included as common carriers.

Assembly Constitutional Amendment 33, Bohnett—Making the office of clerk of Supreme Court appointive by the court instead of elective.

Senate Constitutional Amendment 47, Burnett—Enlarging powers of Railroad Commission to include jurisdiction over all public utilities.

A $5,000,000 Concern Earnestly Considered by Capitalists.

Modesto.—At a mass meeting held in this city for the purpose of organizing the business men's league of Modesto, a proposition was presented for the formation of an inter-counties railway company, with a capital of $5,000,000, to run a network of railroads through the San Joaquin valley in connection with a similar system in the Sacramento valley, with connections with San Francisco and the bay cities.

The present concern, the Inter-Counties Railway Company, purposes to build its initial line from Modesto to Crows Landing and Newman on the west side of the San Joaquin river in Stanislaus county, and from Modesto to Turlock, Merced, Fresno and the southern part of the San Joaquin valley.

The personnel of the directorate identifies this proposition beyond doubt with the recently organized corporation whose holdings include the Oakland and Antioch electric line, now in operation, and whose field of extension includes a line across the islands of the San Joaquin river delta to Stockton and via the Central California Traction Company and Northern Electric Company's line to the northern part of Sacramento valley.

A Deficit in Alameda County.

Oakland.—District Attorney Donahue, through a report made to the Grand Jury by County Expert John Sabin, has developed the fact that Alameda county, instead of having a surplus of $250,000, has a deficit of $19,000. The Supervisors had boasted of the supposed surplus, saying it could be used in building the proposed new hospital. Now, Donahue says, bonds will have to be voted for the hospital. Some of the Supervisors deny having boasted of a surplus. Others claim that Sabin was lax in reporting conditions, while the latter says his report was open at all times.

State Money For San Diego Fair.

Sacramento.—Governor Johnson has signed Senate bill 442, appropriating $50,000 for the erection by the State of an exposition building at the Panama-California Exposition to be held in San Diego in 1915. Park Commissioner H. O'Halloran and Assemblyman E. C. Hinkle of San Diego were present at the time, and furnished a gold-pointed ostrich plume pen to be used by the Governor in attaching his signature.

Concurrent Resolutions.

Among the concurrent resolutions adopted by the Legislature were those favoring federal constitutional amendments for providing for election of United States Senators by direct vote of the people, and for an income tax.

In addition each house passed an individual resolution demanding protection against indiscriminate immigration in the recently ratified treaty with Japan.

Bills also were passed abolishing racetrack gambling and the use of slot machines; regulating moving picture exhibitions; prohibiting common drinking cups in public places; holding manufacturers responsible for adulteration of foods; providing that the net contents of most commodities shall be stamped on the container or that the container shall be of standard size; dividing the State into six fish and game districts, and establishing boards of commissioners for the Panama-Pacific Exposition at San Francisco and the Panama-California Exposition at San Diego.

ONE ON SQUIRE HAWKINS.

"I guess I'll have to wait a long time for that new house you have been talking about building," remarked his good wife to Squire Hawkins glancing at him reflectively over her glasses. "You said when material was cheapened by a reduction in freight rates you would build."

"Well, what of it?" retorted the Squire petulantly. "What of it? Everything of it. I don't believe freight rates have anything to do with it. In fact, if you think they are going to reduce the rates you better buy now or prices may be higher."

"Nonsense. You are talking nonsense. The idea of saying that a reduction in freight rates would be followed by an increase in prices to the consumer! Who ever heard of such a thing? Cut the rates and you will cut the cost. That is what Jake Smith says and he knows a thing or two, I guess."

"I know, you have said that before, but don't be so sure about it. I am reading how your theory worked out over in Oklahoma. The railroad commission there made a big cut in coal rates, affecting seventeen towns. In eleven of the towns the coal dealers made no reduction in the price of coal, but took all the profits; in three of the towns they reduced the price, but not as much as the rates were reduced, while in the three remaining towns they actually increased the price 50 cents a ton. Here is the paper, take it and read it for yourself."

Squire Hawkins, among other things, enjoyed the distinction of being the neighborhood philosopher—one who is accredited with knowing a little about everything, but as a matter of fact not much about anything—and he reached for the paper, still affecting confidence in the rectitude of his theory. It was a report of the evidence offered at a hearing before the Interstate Commerce Commission. The Corporation Commission of Oklahoma had reduced coal rates from the McAllister fields to the following towns and this was the result:

Old rate.	New rate.	Old rate.	New rate.
Blackwell	$2.65	Alva	$1.60
Alva	$2.25	Woodward	$1.75
Woodward	$2.25	Waynoka	$1.90
Waynoka	$2.25	Gage	$1.90
Gage	$2.25	Medford	$1.90
Medford	$2.25	Guthrie	$1.75
Guthrie	$2.25	Oklahoma City	$1.50
Oklahoma City	$2.25	Shawnee	$1.40
Shawnee	$2.25	Cushing	$1.10
Cushing	$2.25	Ponca City	$1.55
Ponca City	$2.25	Perry	$1.35
Perry	$2.25	Armstrong	$1.10
Armstrong	$2.25	Purcell	$1.25
Purcell	$2.25	Lindsay	$1.25
Lindsay	$2.25	Pawnee	$1.25
Pawnee	$2.25	Sallisaw	$1.25

Hawkins had many times silenced his wife in debate by affecting superior wisdom. But he felt the noose of her logic tightening around his ideas this time. Here were the figures, he could not dispute them for he himself had often said that figures cannot lie. He ran his fingers through his hair again and again, glancing alternately, in the meantime, at his wife and then at the figures.

"I'll be hanged!" he said, laying the paper down and drawing a long breath. "These dealers have been telling me all along, when I complained about high prices, that the only way out is a reduction in freight rates. I thought it was true. It appeared reasonable, at any rate. But the proof of the pudding is in the eating. The Oklahoma coal rates were greatly reduced and the dealers not only grabbed nearly every cent of the benefit, but some of them had the nerve to increase the price. I guess after all the real cause of high prices is not freight rates, but high profits of the dealers."

"But stop a minute," interposed his good wife. "While you were reading about coal prices in Oklahoma I was reading the market reports. You know we have a large number of hogs and cattle on the farm. I see by the market reports that they are worth about twice as much now as they were a few years ago. Don't you think this may have something to do with the high cost of living? And there is butter, and eggs, and—well, everything we produce on the farm is selling for much more."

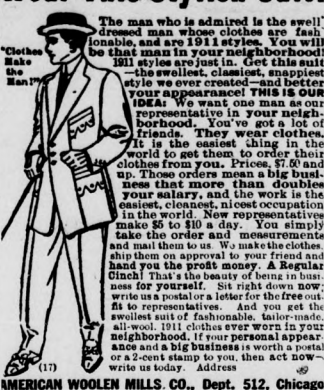

"Yes; and by the way I am just beginning to see through it. We are getting about twice what we used to for our products and the dealer is getting profits in proportion and between us both we are reaching pretty deeply into the pockets of the consumer. As producers, however, I don't think we are getting relatively too much when we sell a hog in bulk at $8.50 a hundred and see him sold back by the pound by the dealer at $25.00 per hundred. Our profits look mighty small compared with the dealer's profits."

"Then this high cost of living puzzle or problem, call it what you like, is really one of profits and not railroad rates after all, is it not?"

"I'll be switched if it don't look that way."

"Well, it occurs to me, Squire Hawkins, that your excuse for not building a new home and getting me out of this old dungeon is a pretty lame one, more

What Fertilizers to Use.

The kind and amount of fertilizers which can be most economically used on a certain crop or on a certain soil, can be determined only by an actual test. No chemical analysis of either the soil or the plant will show this accurately. The kind of fertilizing needed will depend more upon the natural character of the soil, its previous treatment and its present mechanical condition, than upon the actual plant food taken up by the growing crop. The following suggestions as to the amount and composition of the fertilizers needed for different crops are based on the experience of experiment stations, and of successful farmers in different parts of the country. The figures here given represent the averages which have been found most profitable on ordinary soils in fair condition.

BARLEY.

Barley is chiefly grown for malting, or for winter pasture. It has much the same climatic requirements as wheat, and in the farm rotation, should follow a clean cultivation crop, such as corn or potatoes.

Soils. A rich, moist loam is the best soil for barley, and it usually makes a good yield after corn or potatoes, which have been well fertilized. Low and wet soils, as well as hard and dry clays, are to be avoided. If the soil contains much decayed vegetable matter, the growth of straw is excessive and results in lodging.

Cultivation. The general method of seeding and working is similar to that for wheat and other grain crops.

Fertilizing. When grown for brewing purposes, special attention must be given to fertilizing the soil properly in order to obtain the best results. A manure too rich in nitrogen causes severe lodging, and reduces the malting value of the grain. The following fertilizer, applied at the rate of 500 to 1,000 pounds per acre is correct:

Nitrogen,5%
Actual potash,5%
Available phosphoric acid, 7%

Bulletin 33 of the Indiana Experiment Station says, "With the exception of sulphate of ammonia, the plots which received commercial fertilizers generally produced a larger proportion of grain than those to which stable manure was applied." This was on soil which had been in corn preceded by clover.

Suggestions. There are three distinct kinds of barley in cultivation, the "two-rowed" and the "six-rowed" both bearded, and the "Beardless." Of each of these there are winter and spring varieties, but there appears to be no uniform difference in the yields, each variety seeming best suited for certain soils and climates.

Women's Secrets

There is one man in the United States who has perhaps heard more women's secrets than any other man or woman in the country. These secrets are not secrets of guilt or shame, but the secrets of suffering, and they have been confided to Dr. R. V. Pierce in the hope and expectation of advice and help. That few of these women have been disappointed in their expectations is proved by the fact that ninety-eight per cent. of all women treated by Dr. Pierce have been absolutely and altogether cured. Such record would be remarkable if the cases treated were numbered by hundreds only. But when that record applies to the treatment of more than half-a-million women, in a practice of over 40 years, it is phenomenal, and entitles Dr. Pierce to the gratitude accorded him by women, as the first of specialists in the treatment of women's diseases.

Every sick woman may consult Dr. Pierce by letter, absolutely without charge. All replies are mailed, sealed in perfectly plain envelopes, without any printing or advertising whatever, upon them. Raising Their Check.

"How is this for snide?" said the photographer. "The other day I went into a crowded restaurant to take a noonday picture. While I was focusing the camera the leader of a party of men who had been sitting at a table that would show up plainest in the photograph asked the proprietor to make out a ten-dollar check in big figures. He did so. Their own check of $4.65 for the bunch was hidden under a plate and the $10 check was laid down, printed side up, for photographic purposes only."

"If the proprietor had not assured me to the contrary I should have set that down as the most flagrant instance of snobbery on record. He declared that every time the interior of a restaurant is photographed some patron whose ambition is bigger than his pocketbook asks for a check big enough to cover his eating expenses for a week."

Eight-Story Fall Not Fatal.

Alexander Haslett, a work on the steel frames of a modern building, while adjusting a rope on an elevator, slipped and fell eight stories through a shaft.

Death seemed certain. There was nothing between him and the brick pavement 70 feet below. Two stories down there was a board projecting. He grabbed for the board and caught it. He could not hold it, but he broke the strength of his fall for two stories. The impetus threw him into a somersault, but as he turned the fourth story he grabbed a board and again broke his fall. This happened twice in the few seconds in which he shot like a bullet past story after story. He struck the ground, but he had only a slight injury to his skull. Neither arms nor legs were broken.—Philadelphia Press.

Herodotus tells us, in the first book of his history, that from the age of five to that of twenty, the ancients instructed their children only on three things, namely: to manage a horse, to shoot dexterously with their bows, and to speak the truth.
